

'Intimate stories that are sad, confronting and uplifting.'
Kylie Sheffield, Editor, Birth Matters

The Sound of Silence journeys through miscarriage

Edited by Irma Gold

Title:

The Sound of Silence Journeys Through Miscarriage

ISBN: 978-1-921632-11-2

Publication date: 1 October 2011

Size: 205 by 140

RRP: $24.95, paperback

Ebook: 978-1-921633-12-9, $18.95

Target Audience: Mothers, those who have experienced or know someone who has experienced miscarriage, social workers, nurses, doctors and midwives.

Review copies available

Sales points:

True stories, unique collection

Contact the publisher for media enquiries:

A: P. O. Box 1519, Capalaba Qld 4157

T: +61 (0)7 3245 1938 E: info@mostlyformothers.com W: www.mostlyformothers.com

Distributed in Australia: Dennis Jones and Associates or contact the publisher

T: +61 (0)3 9762 9100 E: theoffice@dennisjones.com.au W: www.dennisjones.com.au

Miscarriage is so common and yet within our culture it is an unspeakable subject. Women often grieve alone, mourning a child they have never met but whose future they have already imagined. It is a private, hidden kind of grief. A grief that gets gagged, buried, overlooked, dismissed, and stuffed into small corners—only to bubble up at unexpected moments.

In The Sound of Silence twenty-two women speak out about their experiences of miscarriage. These are stories of loss and loneliness, hope and joy, strength and courage, and, most of all, overwhelming love. They are a reminder to all women who have experienced a miscarriage that they are not alone.

'An open, honest and insightful book that offers hope and understanding.' Trudi Penrose-Starr, co-founder, TLC Pregnancy & Infant Loss Support Australia

'Confronting, authentic and grounded, these stories provide practical help for others who share the loss.' Leanne Raven, CEO, SIDS and Kids Australia